

COLLEGE TRUSTEES MEET

NEW PROFESSOR J. O. EVJAN IS AMERICAN BY BIRTH.

Born, Bred and Educated in the Northwest, Has Been Teaching There and Ranks High.

The future of Gettysburg College was the point of view of the Board of Directors at their regular summer session last week and every action and deliberation had that point prominently to the front.

Judge Samuel S. Schmaucker of the Court of Appeals of Maryland was elected president of the Board of Trustees.

After the report of the Faculty and of the President for the year had been read the resignation of Rev. M. Coover from the Chair of English Bible and Chaplain to take effect Sept. 1, 1905, was read and it was accepted with great regret, for in the year's time Rev. Coover had not only demonstrated that he was a master in his department, a learned scholar, but he had also won his way with the boys. They were devoted to him and spoke in most flattering terms of his teaching and personality.

The New Professor.

Upon the recommendation of President Hefelbower Rev. John O. Evjan of Minneapolis, Minn., was unanimously elected to the chair of English Bible to succeed Prof. Coover and the Committee on Curriculum was given power to make whatever changes in the course seemed advisable.

As soon as the election was made public the question on every one's lips was who is Rev. John O. Evjan, Ph. D. In an interview with Prof. Hefelbower the following facts were ascertained. Though the name is of Norwegian origin and he comes of Norwegian parentage, yet he was born in America, in Ipswich, Wis., about 31 years ago, went to the public schools of his own town, entered Augustina College in Minneapolis, from which he graduated about ten years ago. He is a type of that through going American of the Northwest. He studied theology under Prof. Swerckup of Minneapolis, who, by the way, is the only American of the present day who has been invited to take a chair in a German University and declined that honor. Mr. Evjan after completing his studies in this country went to the Leipzig University, taking the course in classical philology and ancient history. Accidentally having become acquainted with certain questions in the history of Denmark he took up modern history and won the degree of Ph. D. with high honors. His thesis on Denmark was recognized as of great value, his researches having developed facts and conclusions as to require the rewriting of the history of that country at a certain period. Prof. Evjan reads six modern languages and three dead ones and speaks four languages. He is a Lutheran minister. Prof. Hefelbower met him at Leipzig and was impressed with his great talent as a student and the power to express himself. At the present time Prof. Evjan is lecturing in a theological seminary in Minneapolis on Church History, Christian Ethics, History of Philosophy, New Testament Exegesis and New Testament Introduction and has been very successful in these departments. His coming to Gettysburg will probably mean the introduction of several much needed branches, such as advanced general history and history of philosophy.

Other Business.

The Board of Trustees continued Prof. Charles E. Dryden in the chair of Professor of German Language and Literature. Prof. Dryden has sailed for Germany where he will study during the summer.

A resolution was passed requesting the members of the faculty to visit some leading institution of learning at least once every three years for the purpose of getting acquainted with the latest educational methods and requesting that the President keep himself in touch with the great educational movement of the times.

The resignation of John F. Gwinner of Easton on account of his advanced age was regretfully accepted by the Board and Rev. Dr. Milton H. Valentine, editor of the "Lutheran Observer," was elected to the Chair. The resignation of Benjamin S. Kunkle of Philadelphia was filed and he elected to take his place.

Dr. H. W. McKnight was reappointed to the chair of Natural Science, Howard E. James reappointed physical director and C. S. Duncan, D. P.

McPherson and H. A. Rinard were reappointed to the athletic board.

Gettysburg College will move forward next year into what is hoped to be a new epoch. Pres. Hefelbower has been studying the field for the past year and its various problems and trying to get acquainted with the alumni and friends of the college. The prospects for the Freshman class are very bright. It is thought the class will equal that of last year, the largest class that ever entered the institution, 85 in number. From now on an active campaign for money will be pushed, for the money that will decide whether this institution is to move forward.

During commencement three of the class of 1855, seven of the class of 1865, ten of the class of 1895 and nineteen of the class of 1900 attended their respective reunions and all the fraternities held banquets.

AWFUL WRECK ON W. M. R. R.

Latest Report Gives 25 Killed and 11 Injured.

The reading of the horrible railroad accidents at a distance with great loss of life has often forced the reflection that the railroads near home had been fortunate in escaping from great wrecks, but the awful, horrible disaster came last Saturday evening.

The fast passenger train leaving Baltimore at 5 o'clock p. m. had passed Emory Grove but several miles when it met a double-header freight with 18 cars on a curve. There was a head-on collision. The engines reared up, the forward freight engine turning over. The mail coach and baggage car on the passenger were wrecked, the passenger cars escaping injury with their occupants.

The passenger train at Mt. Hope picked up a wrecking crew of 31 men who had cleared up a wreck of last Wednesday and took train for their homes at Thurmont, Catonsville and Highfield. These men took exposed positions on train while others gathered in baggage car and the entire loss was confined to these men and the crews of the two trains.

The freight train had been waiting on siding at Gorsuch for the passenger to pass and crew had been talking about the passing of this train before start was made for siding at Lawnsdale. Just why they started will never be known as both engineers, conductors and firemen were killed as well as engineer and fireman on passenger train. All had been in the service of the road for years and were well trained and capable.

D., of Wittenberg Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ohio, was elected President. Reports of Foreign and Home Missions showed good increases in receipts. Ministerial delegates of West Pennsylvania Synod from this county are Revs. R. H. Clare, Abbottstown, Jacob A. Clute, Gettysburg, and E. E. Bunt, Littlestown. Lay delegate, Amos Eckert.

SONS OF VETERANS CAMP

CO. B. SONS OF VETERANS RESERVES HIGHLY HONORED

Capt. Tawney had one of the Best Drilled Companies in Camp And so Recognized.

Saturday evening last Captain Wm. McG. Tawney, twenty-four men and Mike, the rat-terrier mascot of Co. B, Sons of Veterans Reserves, returned from the week's encampment at Milton. Individually and collectively they declared that they had had the biggest time of their lives and carried well deserved praises of being one of the best drilled companies in camp. Capt. Tawney well deserved everything said of Co. B for he has been patiently drilling his company for months until it was the whole thing.

Co. B. was the first organization on the ground and received a special welcome thereby. The annual convention of the Sons of Veterans met in Milton while the military branch held a field encampment. The camp was named C. A. Godcharles and began Saturday evening June 10, when Brig. Gen. Tschudy arrived and assumed charge. The camp was located in Fair Grounds on outskirts of Milton and under canvas were 16 companies of Inf. Reserves, a full equipped hospital corps, Reader Battery from Easton and Troop A of the 1st Cavalry from Philadelphia, 2nd Regt. Baud, Bugle Corps from 7th Regt. and Drum Corps from 3d. In all about 700 men attended camp and this fact is remarkable when it is considered that each man pays his own expenses, transportation and every item in connection with the event.

Milton went the limit in giving a royal welcome and in decoration, there being 15 artistic arches with a string of 29 electric lights at each one and buildings were gay with flags, bunting, etc.

The camp life consisted of a regular routine, company and battalion drills in morning and parade in evening. On Tuesday Company B was selected to have the honor of meeting Major General Reed, Chief of Staff, and escorting him to camp.

Thursday was the day of the big parade and was reviewed by Gen. Reed and staff and in addition to the Reserves two companies of National Guard, organizations of Milton and five or six bands were in line, making a total of 1,500 men in the parade. Here Co. B showed off to great advantage in the perfection of drill work and as it went along the streets was given ovation after ovation, cheer after cheer.

The Sons of Veterans held their business session on Wednesday, John Bower, Jr., being elected Commander, G. O. Davis, Sr. Vice Commander, William J. Croll, Jr. Vice Commander, Stewart B. Hutchinson, M. F. Kane, Titus M. Ruch, Div. Council. Robt. C. Miller of this place was elected as alternate to National Encampment in Gettysburg the third week in September. In the Reserves Walter Weaver was appointed a bugler on the staff.

It was the most enthusiastic camp ever held and the first time the Reserves and Sons of Veterans held camp at same time and place and all the military organizations were in favor to a man of attending the National Convention in Gettysburg the third week in September, which promises to be the largest gathering in the history of the order. The State officers have made an appropriation to make the thing a go and a success that will eclipse Milton if possible.

The only thing to mar the event was the maiming of Earle Edlinger of Reader Battery, whose right hand was blown off by a premature explosion while ramming a cannon.

Camp next year will be held at York and Co. B will make an exhaustive effort to raise a full company for that camp. The tales of fun at Milton run the whole gamut from being spelled with a little f to the whole word spelled in great big bold faced capital letters. FUN, and of course the Captain, his twenty-four men and Mike the mascot didn't take a back seat.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held their convention at the same time with a full representation from all parts of the state. Mrs. Kate Hardeste, National President, visited the convention.

Led Famous Charge at Gettysburg.

Minneapolis, June 14.—Colonel William Colville, of Red Wing, Minn., who led the famous charge of the First Minnesota regiment at the battle of Gettysburg, was found dead in bed at the Minnesota Soldiers' Home, where he went to be ready to celebrate the reunion of the regiment. He was 75 years of age. At Gettysburg 264 men were in a historic charge. Forty-three returned alive and uninjured. Colville who led, was seven times wounded.

The dual account of J. Wm. Garlach, assignee of C. L. Stine, was confirmed absolute.

The report of C. E. Stahle, commissioner in divorce proceedings of Anna E. Geiselman vs. L. C. Geiselman was read recommending that a divorce be granted on grounds of cruel treatment and desertion and decree of divorce made by the Court.

In estate of Vincent O'Hold, Dr. R. N. Meisenhelder, a creditor, asked for a citation to compel Gabriella Smith, administratrix, to settle an account. In meantime an account was filed charging $3,000 and taking credit for same amount. That was not considered an account and rule for an account was made absolute. A new petition of a creditor alleging claim of $191 unpaid came forward and another citation for accounting was issued. The surface indications seem to show that there is a desire to avoid an accounting but by decree of Court it is now due.

Matters argued were as follows: James C. Cole and Dr. Geo. Tate, trading as Tate and Cole, vs. N. H. Muselman motion for a new trial argued and over-ruled and judgment entered on verdict of jury at January Court for plaintiffs for $119.26.

Exceptions to report of auditor making distribution of proceeds of sheriff's sale of personal property of Charles F. Glass was argued and decision reserved.

Com. ex rel. C. H. Wilson, Constable, vs. Gettysburg Gas Co. motion to take off non-suit was argued and opinion reserved. The Court expressed himself in no uncertain way that the fish in Rock Creek ought to be protected from death by gas tar.

The appeal of Benjamin M. J. Washington and D. Jennie Deardorff from probate of will of Elijah Wisler, deceased, was allowed and the Court sustained the appeal declaring so much of the will to be void as provided religious bequests, for the reason that there was no attesting, subscribing witnesses as law requires.

Hyman Lachman and Samuel Lachman trading as H. and S. Lachman vs. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. motion for new trial argued. Verdict had been for plaintiff for $800 on policy growing out of fire in Littlestown. Motion for new trial over-ruled and judgment on verdict for $800 for plaintiffs.

Samuel Eckenrode vs. Susan Emaline Eckenrode rule by defendant on plaintiff for counsel fees of $50 in divorce proceedings was dismissed upon payment of costs. Divorce proceedings may be abandoned.

John D. Keith vs. J. Emory Bair demurrer in bill of equity over-ruled and defendant ordered to file answer.

Rule on supervisors of the township of Tyrone to show cause why they should not repair and maintain a certain road was dismissed, the road while an old one had never been opened by law.

Other Commencements.

Commencement at Mt. St. Mary's on last Thursday was the attraction of many of our people, not only by reason of the graduation of Mark Stock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Stock, of this place, and George L. Rice, son of Dr. Geo. L. Rice of McSherrystown, but also because the occasion was a memorable one by reason of the presence of Cardinal Gibbons, Governor Warfield and other distinguished guests. Very Rev. Dr. W. L. O'Hara who has successfully managed the institution for the past six years as president, tendered his resignation, and Very Rev. Dennis J. Flynn, vice-president and treasurer, who has frequently visited this place and is well known here, was chosen to succeed to the presidency.

The commencement exercises at St. Joseph's Academy on Friday with Cardinal Gibbons presiding was as attractive occasion equal to that of the day preceding. Among the graduates was Miss Elaine Ingersoll, daughter of William Ingersoll of this place. This lady received a gold medal for excellence in special course completed. Miss Mary G. Eckenrode of York, a niece of Dr. C. E. Eckenrode, also graduated receiving a gold medal and diploma and also a gold locket for cooking. Miss Elizabeth Lancaster, a grand-daughter of the late Judge John L. Jenkins of this county, received a gold medal in business course. The musical program at commencement was delightful.

University of Pennsylvania commencement on last Wednesday at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, was unique from the point of view of Gettysburg College in that five of the class of 1905 were made Doctors of Medicine Harry S. Crouse, Littlestown, Harry C. Hoffman, Jenners, John W. Mehring, Littlestown, Alexander H. O'Neal, Gettysburg, and Mahlon R. Raby, Waynesboro.

Alumni Dinner.

The ladies of the town had prepared in gymnasium a dinner or luncheon which everyone declared surpassed anything of the kind ever before served and was thoroughly enjoyed and a vote of thanks was tendered the ladies in the meeting which followed.

Commencement of 1905 was unique in the fact that three of the four living members of the class 1855 were present to celebrate their 50th anniversary, being Rev. Samuel A. Holman, D. D. of Philadelphia, Rev. Eli Huber D. D. of Gettysburg and Hon. Jacob Rinehart M. D. of Frizelleburg, Md. and immediately following the dinner, S. S. Neely as the presiding officer of the occasion called upon Dr. Holman for a toast to which he responded. Then Ross K. Gilbert spoke for the class of 1905.

John B. McPherson of class of 1883

ACROSS COUNTRY.

The signs of the times point to an enormous increase of intelligent public interest in health: to a new generation with purer, stronger blood and therefore more active, braver brains and bodies.

No physically healthy person ever succumbed to grip, consumption, malaria or any other germ disease. But with a weakened system one can have to fight the germs of disease.

Our blood is often in a fertile condition for the growth of bacteria—the germs of disease—because our stomach is disordered or our liver is torpid—in either case our blood does not get the proper nourishment. A torpid liver means a stagnation of the blood and an accumulation of poisons which furnishes a weak spot for bacteria to enter.

To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles, Dr. Pierce's years ago found a vegetable compound, which he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, that would quickly cure the bad condition of the blood by increasing the red blood corpuscles and thereby feeding the nerves on rich blood. This "Medical Discovery" also acts upon the digestion and assimilation of food, so that the blood gets its proper elements from the products of digestion. Feed the lungs, stomach and heart on rich red blood and you have surely a healthy body which will throw off the germs of disease which lurk everywhere.

Get as near nature's way as you can. A medicine made entirely from botanical extracts and which does not contain alcohol is the safest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

At a seasonable hour a sumptuous feast was served which consisted of almost innumerable delicacies of which each heartily partook.

About dusk the participants dispersed with the bright anticipation of many more similar occasions, each having had a very hilarious time.

Those present were Misses Clara Musselman, Fanny Rie, Mary Sheffer, Martha Moore, Hattie Rock, Bess

being called on said that the time was at hand when college must go forward or backward, that it was impossible to do anything without money and from $200,000 to $400,000 was needed. He spoke of the work of widow of Rev. Dr. Stuckenberg organizing clubs all over Ohio for the benefit of Wooster University and thought some such movement was needed here.

Pres. Hefelbower asserted there was a movement on foot.

Other after dinner speakers were Hon. Ed. Ziegler of York, class of 1865, B. V. D. Fisher, Esq. of New York, class of 1881 and Rev. George C. Henry of Shippensburg of class of 1876, the latter saying that a recollection of his childhood was an old horse, and whenever he heard music went prancing down the street, just as when June comes there is something that goes, tingling through the blood to bring us back to Gettysburg.

Alumni Association.

After the toasts the Association was called to order and minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

Report of Treasurer of college was read showing how the Trustees of College had provided for Alumni professorship.

Prof. Himes, Breidenbaugh and Stahley read a report about the publication of a Pennsylvania College Book for 1907 on 75th anniversary of College.

The association decided that a Pennsylvania College Book on 75th anniversary should be published. That it should contain the same general information as in last one, that it should give a full record of each alumnus and the ex-members, that it should record titles of professional magazine articles as well as of formal volumes, that the price should be a cost one, and that Prof. Breidenbaugh and members of faculty who are graduates of college should select editor and two assistants in Gettysburg and that the Treasurer should take steps to provide for the preliminary expense.

The present officers of the Alumni Association were continued for another year.

Tributes to a Gettysburg Lady.

It is with feelings of the most sincere regret that we announce the death of Mrs. Richardson, wife of Rev. A. F. Richardson, formerly pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of this city.

There are few Graftonians that ever knew Mrs. Richardson but who will mourn sincerely the passing of this beautiful spirit from earthly scenes to the heavenly home.

While in Grafton she made an army of friends and all who knew her loved her for the beauty of her character, the exquisite perfection of her womanly charms and the chaste thoughts that always came from association with her.

It was the writer's privilege to know Mrs. Richardson some ten years back, when Rev. Richardson had the Lutheran charge at Aurora, Preston county, and there also she was greatly loved and admired.

Mrs. Richardson was the possessor of a voice remarkable in its sweetness, and as long as her health permitted she greatly assisted her husband in his labor of love for humanity.

The deceased had been a sufferer for years, and every skill known to medical science, every climate that offered even a faint promise of health the invalid was most eagerly employed by the devoted husband in the hope of keeping the fragile body here on earth a little longer.

We have frequently heard Mrs. Richardson likened to some fragile, delicate flower, given to bloom for a season and drawing into itself the love and tender care of beautiful natures, only to fade and pass as a beautiful memory whose like is seldom found.

Rev. Richardson served St. Paul's Lutheran church here for some years and until a climatic change was recommended for his wife, and when they departed from Grafton they bore with them the love and esteem and earnest prayers of the Christian people of the community.—Grafton, W. Va., Sentinel.

Rev. A. F. Richardson has been sadly bereaved by the death of his wife, Mrs. Fannie King Richardson, which occurred at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. John Weidley, East End, Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Richardson, formerly Miss Fannie Violet King, of Gettysburg, Pa., was a noble woman, greatly beloved by the congregations of which her husband was pastor.

The body was taken to Gettysburg and interred in Evergreen cemetery, the services being conducted by Dr. M. Valentine.—Lutheran Observer.

On June 1, 1905, at about 2 p. m., a very pleasant party of young people assembled at Knoxlyn. The afternoon was spent in fishing and various games and amusements.

At a seasonable hour a sumptuous feast was served which consisted of almost innumerable delicacies of which each heartily partook.

About dusk the participants dispersed with the bright anticipation of many more similar occasions, each having had a very hilarious time.

being called on said that the time was at hand when college must go forward or backward, that it was impossible to do anything without money and from $200,000 to $400,000 was needed. A GUEST.

Illegal Fishing Makes Trouble.

It looks as though C. W. Gardner of York Springs and Amos Goebaur of Bowlder were not at end of their trouble over illegal fishing. They had taken their families picnicking and without any intention to violate the law, two sunfish were caught by the Gardner party and four by the Goebaur party.

When they learned that they would be informed on they hurried to Justice of the Peace D. F. Smith, plead guilty and claimed one-half of the fine imposed on the ground that they had made information against themselves and the Justice allowed the claim collecting $10 and $20 instead of $20 and $40.

The Department of Fisheries at Harrisburg will not recognize such methods and intimate that the Justice will be compelled to pay the full fine to the state, unless he can get Messrs. Gardner and Goebaur to come to his relief.

A Philadelphia merchant who spends hundreds of thousands of dollars every year for advertising was asked the other day what newspaper he considered the best medium through which to reach the public. His answer was unhesitatingly "The Philadelphia Record."

Then he went on to say: "I have used 'The Record' for years—in fact, ever since I have been advertising, and I find that it brings me the best results. It isn't necessary to experiment with 'The Record.' The experienced business man realizes that the money he spends, to reach the readers of that paper is money well invested. 'The Record' is read thoroughly. A great many people, men especially, make a practice of buying several newspapers during the course of a day. They glance over the pages casually to see if there is anything of particular interest, and then throw them aside. But I have come to the conclusion from long observance that 'The Record' is the paper that is read thoroughly from beginning to end."

The Philadelphia merchant was undoubtedly right. There is no disputing the fact that "The Record" is the most popular paper in Philadelphia, and its influence throughout the surrounding country is evidenced by its claim to the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the State of Pennsylvania, a claim that is without doubt based upon actual figures. Nor is this strange considering its merits. It is in every sense of the term a family paper—clean, wholesome, bright, entertaining, a welcome visitor to the home circle.

The growth of "The Record" is a gratifying tribute to the integrity of its methods. It is always fair and above board; it has nothing to conceal, and it is in every respect a model newspaper. More power to it!

THE COMMENCEMENT TIME
1905 CLASS DAY AN ENJOYABLE FEATURE.
Meeting of Alumni Association— Graduating Exercises and Other Happenings of Week.
The commencement time was the subject of conversation between alumni and one of them said: "Commencement is not what it used to be, yet it must be confessed that it is better arranged and is a much more tasteful affair than in the good old times. There was something crude about those old commencements, they make delightful memories yet they bring back smiles of the functions that used to be but have passed away. Don't you remember the parade on commencement day from the college to Christ's church, headed by the drum major of the orchestra, followed by faculty, seniors and student body. The procession was two squares long at times and citizens and visitors gathered on Chambersburg street to see it go by. That feature over which we now smile is gone forever. Then think of how we were packed up on a platform in the College church and how after each one had come forward and spoken his little piece the ushers rushed forward with their arms full of bouquets and packages and when they had unloaded there was a great bank of gifts in front of each graduate and in turn each would make his sweetest bow over the collection. There is something deliciously sweet about these memories, even though they bring back smiles by reason of the many rather humorous aspects presented. While the modern commencement lacks many points of view of the old time commencement, it is more in keeping with the spirit of the times, shorter, with less of that young wisdom which looks so green in after years. It is more condensed and makes a better impression for the institution."

Class Day Exercises.
Class Day on last Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock brought out the largest gathering of recent years and the program was better than usual. Froelich's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.
Ross K. Gilbert, better known as "Biddie," was master of ceremonies and in a happy way opened the ball and introduced the features.
Paul A. Bartholomew then called "Class Roll" appending distinguishing features of each member, many of which were greeted with shouts of laughter. Pa. Dutchman, Know-it-all, Pelican, Married, To Be Married, Base Ball Fiend, Rip Van Winkle, Executive Officer of Hot Air Order, Pull or Push, Hater of Books, Only Poet, Exquisite, Only Aspiring Youth, Beau Brummel, Boy Orator, Were some of the appellations given.
Class History was read by Harold S. Trump. The class had entered college with 42, of which 3 were ladies. The class graduating numbered 34, having lost the ladies. The youngest was 17 years of age and the oldest 32. The great loss to the class had been the death of Paul M. Koser. Nine of the class would become ministers and 25 take up other work.
Class Poem was composed and read by George R. Pretz.
Class Prophecy by Andrew L. Dillenbeck, foretold the future of the members of the class.
Bruce U. P. Coblough presenting the cap and gown to a representative of the Junior Class made the mantle oration.

Then came the Presentation of Gifts which was done good naturedly in turn by Joel E. Grubb, Newport, and Edmund H. Stugmaster, Gettysburg. This feature created much merriment.

The campus in front of the president's house was bright with light from two are lamps erected for the occasion and the spacious porch lit with incandescent lights made a restful place for the guests. OSTERMOOR

EVERY other mattress in the world is STUFFED—hair, cotton or feathers—jammed in at the open end of a tick. That's why lumps and holes soon cause restless nights. Each OSTERMOOR is built—not stuffed. Handlaid sheets of downy softness, each full size, are carefully built within the tick. It is vermin-proof. An occasional sun-bath is all it requires. CUSTOMS IN MOROCCO.
The Scene at the Slave Market in Marrakish.

"From time to time we are taking our meals in the open air," writes a traveler to Morocco. "I see the shepherd boys staring at us from a respectful distance. To them we must seem no better than savages. In the first place, we sit on chairs and not on the ground. We cut our bread, which, as every true believer knows, is a wicked act and defies Providence, since bread is from Allah and may be broken with the hand, but never touched with a knife. Then we do not know how to eat with our fingers, but use knives and forks and spoons, that after mere washing are common property. We do not have water poured out over our fingers before the meal begins—the preliminary wash in the tent is invisible and does not count—and we do not say 'Bismillah' before we start eating.
 Our daily bathing seems to puzzle them greatly. I do not notice that little Larbi and his brother Kasem ever tempt the sea to wash or drown them.
 Yet they look healthy enough and are full of dignity."

Vividly delineated, too, by the same writer are the scenes in the slave market at Marrakish. "The various booths where the salesmen keep their slaves, of all ages and both sexes, are carefully screened from sight until the market opens. Then one at a time these booths empty themselves of their contents and men, women and children are marched around the enclosure, the auctioneer crying out the latest bid, and the slave owner pointing out the best features of his articles for sale.

"They are all gorgeous," attired and decked out to show them off to the best advantage. One by one the youngest and the fairest and the fittest are chosen until at the end of the long, hot day only a few aged and weary and worn are left. They have tramped round and round the market all day long, but they are old and therefore not wanted."

A GREEDY CORMORANT.
He Devoured Two Pounds of Stones
as Part of a Meal.

When I was a keeper in the National Zoological park in Washington I observed a remarkable example of the well known greediness of the cormorant.

Four little cormorants came to the zoo and were placed in a cage in which dogs had once been kept. Outside was a pebbly yard in which the dogs had exercised. The cormorants waddled about this yard and seemed to be having a fine time until one morning I noticed that one of them was sitting on the ground unable to rise. He did not waddle up to get his meal of whole fish, each usually about half as long as his own body, and as the others came rushing toward me to get their share I knew that he was ill. I went into the cage and lifted him up. What was my amazement to hear something grating and clanking inside of him! And he seemed surprisingly heavy. I at once called the head keeper, who decided to investigate by means of a surgical operation.

He took out two pounds of stones, one of which was four inches long, two and a half inches wide and about half an inch thick. The poor chap seemed to feel relieved. In a few days he became convalescent, ate his food regularly and seemed to be doing well.
 Then that hooked bill reached under the feathers and tore out some of the surgeon's stitches, which were undoubtedly irritating, as the wound was beginning to heal. As a result of this interference the wound opened, and as the weather was hot, the patient died five days after the operation.—St.
 Nicholas.

MYSTERY OF DREAMS.
The Wonders the Brain Sees in the Fraction of a Second.

It is not unusual to hear one say that he has been dreaming about something all night, when possibly his dream occupied only a very short time. Many attempts have been made to measure the time occupied in a dream, and records appear from time to time in the papers showing that often elaborate ones occupy but a few seconds. The following incident is told by a gentleman who vouches for its accuracy:

He was engaged one afternoon with a clerk in verifying some long columns of figures that had been copied from one book to another. The numbers, representing amounts in dollars and cents, were composed of six or seven figures. The clerk would read, for instance, "Fourteen, one forty-two, twelve," making the amount of $14-142.12, and the gentleman would answer, "Check," to indicate that the copy was correct. Page after page had been read as rapidly as the words could be uttered, each number receiving the "check." The work was drowsy, and it was with difficulty he could keep his eyes open.

Finally sleep overcame him, and he dreamed—dreamed of an old horse he had been accustomed to drive twenty-five or thirty years ago. He could not recall any special incident connected with the dream except the locality and the distinct sight of the horse and of the buggy to which he had driven him.
 He awoke suddenly and, as a number was ended, called "Check." He was conscious of having slept and of having dreamed and said to the clerk:
 "Charlie, I have been asleep. How many of those numbers have I missed?" "None," he replied. "You have checked every one." Close questioning developed the fact that of the figures $14,142.12 he had heard the fourteen and the twelve, but had slept and dreamed during the time occupied in rapidly uttering the words "one forty-two." He tried by reading other numbers to measure the time and thinks it could not have been more than half a second.

Another story is told of a man who sat before his fire in a drowsy condition. A draft blowing across the room set a large photograph on the mantel to swaying. A slender vase was in front of it, and the man remembers wondering, in a mood of whimsical indifference, whether the picture would blow forward and send the vase to the floor.

Finally a gust of wind did topple the picture, and it struck the vase. The man remembers having been seriously relieved in his state of drowsiness that at last the "old thing was going to fall and be done with it."

Presently he was in the midst of a complicated business transaction in a western city miles away. All the details of a new and unheard of scheme were coming forth from his lips, and a board of directors was listening. The scheme prospered. He moved his family west. Fragments of the journey thither and glimpses of the fine house he bought came before his vision.

A crash woke him. The vase had struck the floor. He had dreamed an unlive life covering years, and all in the time it took for the vase which he had seen toppling before he fell asleep to fall five feet and break.—Youth's Companion.

Japanese Idea of Beauty.
 Professor Okakura of Tokyo in a lecture delivered in this country said that the Japanese ideal of feminine beauty varied a little between Tokyo and Kyoto, but on the whole the Japanese considered that a woman should not exceed five feet in height, should have a comparatively fair skin and be well developed, should have long, thin and jet black hair, an oval face, with a narrow straight nose, rather large eyes, nearly black thick eyelashes, a small mouth biding behind red full lips, even rows of small white teeth, ears not altogether small, thick eyebrows and a medium forehead, from which the hair should grow in circular or Fujiyama shape—that is, a shape recalling the truncated cone of the famous volcano.

It Reminded Him.
 The best remedy against a lapse of memory is the piece of thread tied about the finger. But there is a well authenticated case of a man whose wife tied a piece of thread around his finger in the morning to remind him to get his hair cut.

On his way home to dinner he noticed the piece of thread. "Yes, I remember," he said, and smiling proudly, entered the usual shop and sat down before the accustomed artist.

"Why, I cut your hair this morning, sir!" said the astonished barber.

Evidence at Hand.
 "Ah!" sighed the man with the scanty hair. "Shakespeare spoke truly when he said, 'The evil that men do lives after them.'"

For, he it said, the scanty haired man had recently married a widow with a ten-year-old son who was a terror.—

Longfellow.
 Conspicuous among the multitude of famous and interesting persons whom Moncure D. Conway mentions in his autobiography is the poet Longfellow.

At the time Mr. Conway was studying in Cambridge in 1838 Longfellow was the professor of poetry in Harvard university, and it is plain that the affection and reverence the poet then inspired in the young student have survived the half century that has passed.

"Longfellow's personality was potent among us," says Mr. Conway.
 "His modesty, his amiable man to man manners toward the young, the absence of airs or mannerisms, his transparent veracity of mind and respect for all sincere opinions, were very engaging.
 He was universally beloved."

In Praise of Cockneys.
 Cockneys are the best natured people under the sun. It is notorious that a big London crowd is of all crowds in the world the most harmless and the easiest to manage. But see them also in their ordinary collections, outside the gallery door of a popular theater or crowding in the carriages of an excusion train—what fun and kindness and wholesome give and take! A deliberately rude or offensive cockney is hardly to be met.—G. S. Street in Pall Mall Gazette.

The Mortality List.
 Manager of great exposition—What alarms me is our mortality list. Assistant—Mortality list? Why, it's next to nothing at all. "I know better than that. More than one-third of the people that come through the turnstiles are deadheads."

Truth Didn't Save Him.
 Father—Did you break this vase?
 Johnny—Yes, father. I cannot lie. Father—No, and you won't be able to sit either when I've done with you. Go and fetch the strap.—New Yorker.

Old Time Railway Travel.
 Third class passenger coaches in England used to be coupled on next to the engine. The travelers came in for terrible treatment when any accident occurred. At times the engine was driven tender first, in which case frozen hands could be warmed at its smokestack. The passengers were packed, seventy of them, into a truck eighteen feet in length by seven and a half in width. There was no roof and not, as a rule, proper protection at the sides.

Marital Persiflage.
 "I must confess," remarked Mrs.
 Crabbe, "I don't believe there ever was a really perfect man." "Well," replied Mr. Crabbe, "Adam would have been perfect, I suppose, if Eve had only been made first." "How do you mean?" "Well, she would have bossed the job of making Adam."—Philadelphia Press.

THE POACHER
 [Original.]

It was during those few days in the spring when the foliage takes on a pale green, which too soon deepens into the ordinary summer shade. A young girl sauntering along a road was casting covetous eyes over a stone wall in among huge trees, at the base of which grew clumps of violets. Going to the wall, she leaned her arms on it and feasted her eyes on the flowers. There was no sound of any one near or coming, only the birds singing. Climbing the wall, she slid down on the other side and began to gather violets.

It was very pleasant in there. The sun's rays poured through the tiny leaves and fell pleasantly warm on her shoulders. She sat down on the root of a tree and, putting the violets in her lap, was calling them when from the road she heard a voice:

"Poacher!"

Turning, she saw a man leaning on the wall as she had leaned on it, looking at her.

"I beg your pardon," he said, raising his hat. "Perhaps you belong in the place."

The girl rose, with a guilty look, stood without reply, her eyes cast down at the violets, and then threw the flowers on the ground.

"Might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb," said the man. "The sin of committing a robbery is not atoned for by leaving the plunder in a ruined condition."

The girl cast a hasty glance at the wall to the right and left of her territor. She wished to get out of the place, but not to pass him.

"You may just as well make your exit where you made your entrance," he said. "I'm not going to hurt you or inform on you. You'd better take the violets too. They'll soon be wilted lying there."

Now, the girl was but seventeen and had never been in such a fix before.
 Had she been older or of a different temper she might have retorted. As it was, she concealed her pent-up feelings by keeping her mouth shut.

With faltering step she started toward a point of the wall considerably to the stranger's right, but when he moved in that direction also she turned and went to his left. He also changed his direction. It was evident he intended to head her off. The girl looked indignant, but through rising tears. In an instant the man vaulted the wall and joined her.

"I didn't think you would take me so seriously," he said, and, picking up the violets she had thrown down, handed them to her.

"I see no more reason why I should take them from you," she said, "than gather them myself. Yet, have no right to give them."

"I can pay for them,"
 "So can I."

"If you will not accept them from me I shall know that I'm not forgiven."

He gave her an appealing look which she could not resist, and she took the violets.

"If you will come with me," he said,
 "I will take you into the house—I know the owner well—and show you some of his treasures."

He had a winning way with him that she could not resist. He escorted her to the house, opened the front door without ringing, left her for a moment in the great hall and then returned.

"Come with me," he said. "It's all right."

He led the way to the conservatory, she following, wondering at his assurance thus to make himself at home in another's house. In the conservatory he plucked flowers right and left and whenever he had a handful would give them to her. She took them, supposing she was to carry them for him. When she was well loaded he led her to the entrance to the place.

"The owner begs that you will accept these flowers," he said. "He also wishes you hereafter to take all the violets you like and call for flowers from his conservatory whenever you feel inclined."

"But how did he come to take so much interest in me?" asked the astonished girl.

"Oh, I told him that you were very fond of flowers."

She left him at the gate and went home to dream of the adventure.

Four years later she returned from college. A fete was given by the owner of the place on which she had trespassed, and invitations came, including her. She accepted, desirous of seeing the owner who through his friend had given her such beautiful flowers. On coming down from the dressing room the host, assisted by an elderly lady, was receiving his guests. The moment the girl saw him she knew him for the man who had caught her stealing violets.

She had never been quite satisfied with his interference or his explanation. She was not now an innocent schoolgirl, but a young woman of the world, and was considered a very attractive one. She resolved on making the gentleman pay for his amusement. She was much pleased to discover that he did not remember having ever seen her before, and she did not remind him that he had. She laid every snare for him of which she was capable, and they were many and of great variety. In six weeks he was at her feet, but she condemned him to remain there in suspense for six months. Then she accepted him.

On their return from their wedding trip, which took place in the spring, she led him one day to where the violets grew. He remembered the episode that had occurred there and told his wife of it.

"Yes, I was the girl," she said. "But I got even with you."

"I see. You married me."

W. M. RAILROAD TO BE NOTIFIED OF BLOCKADED STREETS

The Financing of the Sewer Considered and Put off Till July Meeting.

On last Tuesday evening it took Council over a half an hour to get a quorum together and President Plank rapt quick for order when the quorum was in sight. Before adjournment came all were present except Councilmen Ed. H. Culp and Chas. Beck, both out of town.

A bill of C. Sheads for distributing posters $1.50 was ordered to be paid. J. L. Williams, counsel for borough then stated that he was present with a number of others on Carlisle street and saw the street plowed by a freight train of the Western Md. R. R. the other day for about twenty minutes in violation of ordinance that street should not be so closed for a longer time than five minutes. He said he could find no policeman at the time and appealed to a brakeman who gave him some lip and when the matter was drawn to attention of officials of the company he was told that all railroad men had been given copy of ordinances and that in case of violation the borough could proceed against the crews violating the ordinances and the orders of the company to observe the same. The conductor of train was a Mr. Reynolds and a motion that Burgess report Conductor Reynolds to railroad co. carried.

Councilman Oyler then called attention to a recent occasion when he had been tied up on Stratton street for at least twenty minutes and at last he drove on a track on which cars were being snafed and told crew he was going to stay there until street was opened. At first he was informed the engine would be brought to throw him off the track. It ended in a polite request for use of tracks he was on to which he complied and blockade was lifted.

The next matter was the special business of the meeting to consider ordinance to increase debt for sewer. The existence of debt of $3,000 presented a difficulty for the next three years. If the annual payment was made on old debt and on new one it would take more money than at first contemplated. If, however, the old debt was provided for in the creation of the new debt this difficulty would be avoided. The ordinance drawn did not provide for the latter contingency and ordinance was withdrawn to be presented at July meeting after bids are opened. It was thought possible to get the holders of the present bonds to exchange for the new ones and in that case to reissue the old debt in the creation of the new one and provide for but one annual payment, for which the present rate of taxation would provide.

Council then adjourned.

"I am a user of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters and there is no medicine its equal for chronic constipation, which is my trouble. I also had varicose veins which caused a running sore on my leg, and I could get no help until I began using Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. I soon noticed a change for the better, and after using the Bitters for six months the sore healed and has given me no trouble since."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
